Shortlisting

6. (1) Where the value of a contract is estimated to be equal to or greater than the threshold set out in the guidelines and handbooks a shortlist of Consultants is to be established by applying a pre-selection procedure in accordance with Public Procurement and Disposal of Public Property (Pre-Qualification and Pre-Selection) Regulations, 2021.

Evaluation methods

9. (1) The procedure for evaluation will depend on the selection method chosen by the procuring entity, which will depend on the nature and value of the services sought as well as the characteristics and risks inherent in the market for those services.

(2) The most common methods of evaluation and the reasons for adopting them are:

- (a) quality and cost-based selection (QCBS) which applies a competitive process among shortlisted consultants taking into account the combined quality of the proposal and the cost of the services in the selection of the successful consultant;
- (b) quality based selection (QBS) is appropriate when assignments are complex or highly specialized making it difficult to define precise terms of reference or for assignments that can be carried out in substantially different ways such that financial proposals may be difficult to compare;
- (c) selection under fixed budget (FBS) is a method used when the assignment is simple and can be precisely defined, and when the budget is fixed;
- (d) least cost selection (LCS) is a method that is appropriate for assignments of a standard or routine nature in which the value of the contract is relatively small;
- (e) selection based on consultants' qualifications (CQS) may be used for small assignments where –
 - (i) highly specialized expertise is required for the assignment;
 - (ii) recruitment time is critical and the assignment is, typically, short-term;
 - (iii) few consultants are qualified; and
 - (iv) the preparation and evaluation of competitive proposals is not justified; and
- (f) individual consultants may be selected based on the consultants' qualifications method where –
 - (i) the qualification and experience of the individual are the paramount requirement;
 - (ii) teams of personnel are not required; and
 - (iii) no outside professional support is required; and

Evaluation
procedure

10. (1) The following procedures for evaluation of proposals may be applied:

- (a) in the case of quality and cost-based selection, the cost and quality scores are weighted and added to determine the highest total score, with the weight for the “cost” element being determined based on the complexity of the assignment and the relative importance of quality but within a range of 20 to 30 points out of a total score of 100;
- (b) in the case of quality-based selection, after evaluating all the technical proposals, the procuring entity shall open only the highest ranked technical proposal and negotiate the financial proposal with the Consultant who submitted the highest ranked technical proposal;
- (c) in the case of a fixed budget selection, following evaluation of all the technical proposals –
 - (i) all the financial proposals shall be opened and the financial proposals which exceed the budget for the procurement shall be rejected; and
 - (ii) the Consultant who submitted the highest ranked technical proposal, with a financial proposal which does not exceed the budget for the procurement, shall be selected and invited to negotiate a contract; or
- (d) subject to sub-regulation (2), in the case of selection based on qualifications, the procuring entity, shall –
 - (i) prepare the terms of reference;
 - (ii) obtain an expression of interest from at least three Consultants with the required qualifications and experience;

- (iii) assess and compare the Consultants;
- (iv) select the best qualified and experienced Consultant and ask him to submit a combined technical and financial proposal; and
- (v) invite the Consultant to negotiate a contract if his combined technical and financial proposal is responsive.

(2) In the case of selection based on qualifications, where only two Consultants are available, the procuring entity shall include its justification for inviting less than three Consultants in its record of procurement proceedings.

(3) An individual Consultant may be selected based on his qualifications in the following manner:

- (b) the procuring entity shall ensure that the shortlisted Consultants possess the required qualification and has the capacity to provide the good, work or service as set out in the terms of reference;
- (c) assess a Consultant's capacity on the basis of academic background, experience and, where necessary, knowledge of local conditions and other relevant factors; and
- (d) invite the selected Consultant to submit his technical and financial proposals prior to the conclusion of the agreement.

(4) For the purposes of sub-regulation (3)(a), where only two Consultants are available, the procuring entity shall include its justification for inviting less than three Consultants in its record of procurement proceedings
