Explanatory Note

(These notes form no part of the Bill but are intended only to indicate its general purport)

The purpose of the Medical Board (Amendment) Bill, 2009 ("the Bill") is to amend the Medical Board Act, Chap. 29:50 ("the Act") to provide for the establishment of a panel to issue special temporary licences in cases of a shortage of persons available to practice medicine in the public health sector and for the recognition of diplomas granted by certain institutions.

Clauses 1 and 2 of the Bill are self-explanatory.

Clause 3 of the Bill would insert several new definitions in section 2 of the Act and amend other definitions.

Clause 4 of the Bill would insert two new sections - 9A and 9B.

The new section 9A would provide for the establishment of a panel, referred to as the “Panel for the Issue of Special Temporary Licences” (“the Panel”). The five members of the Panel would be appointed by the Minister of Health (“the Minister”). The Chief Medical Officer in the Ministry of Health would be the Chairman and an ex officio member.

The new section 9B would set out, among other things, the functions of the Panel. They are to consider applications for the issue of special temporary licences to practice medicine in the Public health sector, where requested to do so by the Minister and to issue special temporary licences or reject the applications.

Clause 5 of the Bill would repeal section 12 of the Act and substitute a new section to enable the Council to recognize diplomas granted by institutions which may not be recognized by the General Medical Council of the United Kingdom.

Clause 6 of the Bill would amend section 13 of the Act to empower the Minister, where circumstances in the public health sector are such that there is a shortage of persons available to practice medicine, to request the Panel to consider applications for the issue of special temporary licences.

The amendment to section 13 would also empower the Panel to determine the nature and extent of a special temporary licence, subject to certain restrictions regarding renewal.

Furthermore, under the amended section 13, the holder of a special temporary licence would be able to apply to the General Medical Council ("the Council") for registration under the Act upon the expiration of the licence. The Panel would not be empowered to register persons.
Clause 7 of the Bill would insert a new section 13A and the act to provide for a book, referred to as the “Book of Special Temporary Licences”, to be kept.

Clause 8 of the Bill would amend section 14 of the Act to exempt holders of special temporary licences from the payment of fees under the Act.

Clause 9 would amend section 16 to require persons applying to the Panel for special temporary licences to furnish to the Chief Medical Officer, the same type of information that is currently required by the Council in respect of persons applying for registration as a medical practitioner or for the issue of a temporary licence, other than a special temporary licence.

Clause 10 of the Bill would amend section 18 of the Act to provide for an evidential matter.

Clause 11 would amend section 19 to require annual publication of a list of persons holding special temporary licences.

Clause 12 of the Bill would amend section 24 of the Act. The amendment to subsection (2) would give the Council the jurisdiction to investigate and made recommendations to the Panel, where a holder of a special temporary licence is convicted of an indictable offence or guilty of infamous or disgraceful conduct. The amendment to subsection (5) would make clearer the circumstances in which the holder of any temporary licence shall be deemed to be guilty of infamous or disgraceful conduct.

Clause 13 of the Bill would amend section 29 to make it clear that a person who is aggrieved by the refusal of the Panel to grant a special temporary licence would not have the redress currently available in respect of the decisions of the Council under section 29.

Clause 14 would insert a new section 29A in the Act to exempt the members of the Panel from personal liability as regards certain acts or omissions. This section would also exempt the members of the Board from liability as regards to acts or omissions of the Panel and of holders of a special temporary licence.

Clause 15 would limit the duration of certain provisions of this Act.

Clause 16 would insert a Schedule containing a list of Medical Schools.
