BILL

AN ACT to amend the Consitution to reform the Police Service Commission, confer powers on the Commissioner of Police to control and manage the Police Service, and for other related matters

THE CONSTITUTION (AMENDMENT) BILL, 2006

Explanatory Note

(These notes form no part of the Bill but are intended only to indicate its general purport)

The main purpose of the Bill is to amend the Constitution to transfer most of the powers of the Police Service Commission to the Commissioner of Police, except the power to appoint, discipline and remove the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner of Police. This Bill also confers on the Commissioner of Police the control and management of the Police Service and other related powers. The Public Service Appeal Board shall continue to serve as the appellate body against a decision of the Commission and Commissioner in disciplinary proceedings. The Bill requires a special majority vote.

Clause 1 provides the short title of the Act, for which this is the Bill.

Clause 2 provides the commencement provision.

Clause 3 provides that this Bill would amend the Constitution.

Clause 4 seeks to amend section 122 to provide the method of and criteria for the appointment of the members of the Police Service Commission.

Clause 5 seeks to insert a new section after section 122 to provide the method of and grounds for the removal of the members of the Police Service Commission.

Clause 6 seeks to repeal section 123 and insert a new section to provide for the powers of the Police Service Commission.

Clause 7 seeks to insert after section 123 a new section to provide for the powers of the Commissioner of Police.

Clause 8 seeks to effect a consequential amendment to section 127.

Clause 9 seeks to amend section 129 to allow the Commissioner of Police to remove an officer who is convicted of a criminal offence.

Clause 10 seeks to amend section 132 to extend the right of appeal to apply to a decision made by the Commissioner of Police.

Clause 11 seeks to amend section 134 by inserting a subsection (3A) to provide that the powers stated in subsection (1) shall not be exercised in relation to a police officer, who, at the time he left the Police Service, was subject to the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Police, without the approval of the Commissioner.

Clause 12 seeks to provide a transitional provision in relation to the members of the existing Police Service Commission and a savings provision in relation to matters being dealt with by the Commission or a person or an authority to whom powers had

AN ACT to amend the Constitution to reform the Police Service Commission, confer powers on the Commissioner of Police to control and manage the Police Service, and for other related matters

[, 2006]

Preamble	WHEREAS it is enacted by subsection (1) of section 54 of the Constitution that Parliament may alter any of the provisions thereof: And whereas it is provided in subsection (2) of the said section 54 that insofar as it alters certain provisions of the Constitution a Bill for an Act of Parliament under the said section 54 shall not be passed by Parliament unless at the final vote thereon in each House it is supported by the votes of not less than two-thirds of all the members of each House: And whereas it is intended by this Act to alter the Constitution.
